THE RAILROAD MAN AND HIS WATCH

No other class of people have to be so particular about the watches. Railroad men know what's what about watches, because in a sense it is a part of their business. Now when they buy a watch what make do they generally choose? USUALLY A "BALL," WALTHAM, ELGIN, HOWARD. What is good enough for a railroad man is good enough for anybody. We have all the above makes and will be glad to explain their good points to you. Prices that will suit you.

KISSEL KAR WINS

Great Automobile Race Between Los Angeles and Phoenix.

Winging his way like a simoom over the desert sands and slashing through the white settlements, Harvey Herrick, a native of this city, accompanied by O. W. Kern, drove the Kissel Kar to victory yesterday (Nov. 7) in the great nerve destroying road race that ever depended on wheels, luck, judgement and a gas engine. Contesting desperately for first place, the drivers no whit less venturesome nor lacking in mettle, came the Pope Hartford, second, with W. D. Tremaine at the wheel, and the Franklin third with Ralph Hamlin driving like a demon, but rather unwilling to admit it. When time was measured the Franklin was found to be in the second place in the race having put it over the Pope Hartford by a narrow margin. The finish and the running time of the three cars in the money was as follows: Kissel Kar, arrived at 11:12 a. m., running time 15:44; Franklin, arrived at 11:21 a. m., running time 16:16; Pope Hartford, arrived at 11:18, running time 17:17.

The other cars arrived in following order. Mercer, with Bigelow and S. L. Harris at the wheel, at 12:33; Rambler, piloted by Sheriff and Schriver, at 1:03 p. m.; Duro Car, driven by Charles Fuller Gates and Harry Bryan mechanic, at 1:14; Parry, driven by Dull and Horine, at 1:16; Velle, 1:32; driven by J. H. Stickney; Ford, at 1:42, driven by E. Roger Stearns, Charles Harris mechanic; Ohio, at 2:56; driven by Ross Henwood and Dick Graeme, the latter of Phoenix; Apperson, at 4:21, driven by Harris M. Hanshue and Lee Gehrick. Phoenix Republican.

Gold Mining in Arizona.

Naturally, the first gold mining of Arizona was the washing of placer beds. The placers at Gila City, 24 miles east of Yuma, were worked as early as 1858. The noted Western scout, Pauline Weaver, found placer beds in 1892 near La Paz, on the Colorado river, now a deserted city, with long streets of ruined adobe houses, where once lived several thousand people and where more than $1,000,000 in gold dust was handled within the space of two years. Then Weaver headed a party of exploration into the Indian-ridden center of Arizona, marching almost straight for what now is known as Rich hill, above Wickenburg, where the richest placer gold deposit of the Southwest was accidentally discovered on the very top of a cupped mountain. To this day there are washings around Rich hill and along the valley of the Hassampa, with its tributaries. Nearly all the creek beds around Prescott yielded gold in the early days and still are being made to produce by means of modern dredging equipment. Placer ground of value is being worked along the Colorado, in northwestern Mohave county. The placer beds of Greaterville in eastern Pima county have supported many generations of Mexicans. Cement placer beds at Quijotes, in Pima county, and near Quartzite, in northern Yuma county, may be profitably worked by means of the new Quinor dry washing machine, which has proved successful under similar conditions in Sonora.

To Develop Oil in Sonora Field.

Judge Blenman returned this morning from Sonora where he has been on business connected with the West Coast Mexican Oil Company, for which he is counsel. This company has recently been financed in England and development work on a very large scale will shortly be commenced, he says.

The property was examined in June and July last by California oil experts, who pronounced it a first-class field with excellent prospects for a high grade and clear oil, Judge Blenman states—Tucson Citizen.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

In order to supply the great demand for telephone service in the Salt River valley, the Overland Telephone company has withdrawn its force from the northern part of the territory and is now doing no construction work except in the immediate vicinity of Phoenix. —Ariz. Rep.

The Twin Buttes company are pushing their development work on the 800 and 900-foot levels. A body of good ore has been tapped in the crosscut on the 800-foot level and the crosscut on the 900-foot level is being hurried to cut the ore. Some 30 men at work.

Secretary Geo. U. Young's stamp mill at the old Mammoth mine, Goldfield district, Pinal county, was placed in commission this week and is now crushing ore from the old Mammoth. The mining force has also been increased sufficiently to keep the mill supplied with ore.

General Manager John F. Shaw is rushing development and ore extraction at the property of the Arizona-Colorado Copper company whose property is located about three and one half miles northeast of Globe and only one half mile east of the railroad line running from Globe to Miami.

James C. Plant, government inspector of federal building sites, who has been detailed by the treasury department to make an inspection of sites in the southwest for which appropriations were made by the last Congressional session, will arrive in Globe within the next few days to select the site for the federal building.

Of 600 men now employed at the Miami Copper Company only about 100 are engaged in underground work. The remaining 500 are working on the construction of the new concentrator and auxiliary parts of the plant. Among the 100 men occupied in mining are included pump-men, carpenters and such other surface men as are necessary to the working of the mine.

The government has recently made a decision in relation to the Navajo Indians which will work hardship on many of the Indian traders on the reservation. It seems that the ruling is to the effect that the Indians will not be permitted to sell or dispose of their stock on the reservation and the traders will not be allowed to loan money on chattels to them. It is understood the ruling was to increase the blanket industry among the Indians. —Williams News.

The Mohave county poor farm and hospital is now under the management of Mrs. Elizabeth Templeman, the board of supervisors having appointed her to that position. Mrs. Templeman has already made many material changes in the conduct of the farm and is making the hearts of the inmates glad by substantial and well cooked meals and delicacies for the sick. Mrs. Templeman is sure to have a successful term in this institution. —Kingman Miner.

Buffalo Bill will move to Tucson this month and stay for the winter. His mines are down the San Pedro valley northwest of Benson on the proposed line of railroad, now being surveyed from here, and when constructed mine owners of that region will stop in Benson much more than at present. A Territorial road down the San Diego valley past the Copper Queen optioned group would be the route for all wagon freight, instead of from Tucson, as the grade is better.

While the private car of Walter Douglas, vice president of the El Paso & Southwestern, in which a party of Calumet and Arizona officials were traveling, was sidetracked at Lordsburg, N. M., Tuesday night, two robbers appeared at the car and at the point of revolver robbed four members of the party. If the wealth of the party was pooled it would run into the millions, but the sum and total of the spoils obtained by the bandits amounted to $11.20, of which amount 20 cents was contributed by two negro train porters.

This week a car containing young fish for free distribution from the U. S. department of agriculture was transferred at Benson from the S. P. main line to the E. P. & S. W., and went south to the headquarters of the Biquillas Lind & Cattle Co., where thirty 1 gal cans of little fishes in their native element, were unloaded for distribution. There were several of the more popular species, such as bass, catfish, etc. They have been planted in the company's water reservoirs, which are supplied by river dams and artesian well.

The El Paso & Southwestern engineer crew, engaged in making the location survey from the old Camp Grant Wash to the Apache group of copper mines, situated in the Catalina mountains and recently purchased by the Phelps Dodge company, are now working about three miles from Oracle. The road will either pass through or very near that place and will cause great mining activity in that rich mining section and give that famous health resort convenient railroad connection with the outside world. This should cause a boom at Oracle. —Blade.

William F. Neal, known to the sporting fraternity as "Billy," famous the world over as manager of Tommy Burns and one of the leading sporting writers of the coast, arrived in Phoenix Saturday and will spend the winter in the Salt River valley. Completely worn out with his strenuous labors of the past year or so, during which time he visited Australia and Europe, he has come to Arizona for rest and the benefits to be derived from the mild climate and to absent himself for a time from the fighting game and the arduous duties of a sporting writer.

That Arizona is the richest subdivision of the United States, figuring on a per capita basis, is the statement made yesterday by W. A. Farish. Mr. Farish, who lived in Tombstone a number of years ago, but who now makes his headquarters in New York, is one of the best known mining engineers in the world and has expertise and reported upon more mining claims than any other man in his profession. In speaking of Arizona's per capita wealth, Mr. Farish did not refer particularly to the actual cash on hand in the banks and in the pockets of the people, but spoke more directly of the great resources and taxable wealth of the territory. —Democrat.
